Badiee saffron production agricultural company as one sub-brand of Hamico. has been active for more than a century with three generations of family in saffron cultivation until today. The experience and history that has been passed down from person to person and from generation to next generation, and with the benefit of expert and committed workforce, Badiee Saffron has been won many honors at the national level and in the field of saffron processing, packaging and export during the last 30 years.

Quality and expertise in the saffron industry and trust and belief in high-quality products are the main products of this company. With the advancement of technology in saffron farming and also with the aim of entering the global markets, the brand name was registered by the third generation of the family, Mr. Ahmad Badiee.

Badiee Saffron has farms and offices in Mashhad, Qain, Torbat Heydarieh and other cities in the south of Khorasan, to cover the needs of the domestic market, and also is in the forefront of the country's exports in the international arena with exports to more than 30 countries.

Saffron

- Saffron is a plant from the family of lilies and is the most expensive spice in the world.
- From the middle of the leaves, a long stem emerges from this plant, which leads to one or three flowers.
- The flowers have 6 purple petals.
- The flowers have 3 stamens and a pistil leading to a three-branched red-orange stigma.
- The used part of this plant is the end of the cream and stigma of three branches, which is known as saffron and is fragrant and slightly bitter.
- Saffron is invigorating and pharmaceutical companies use it as an anti-depressant.
- Crocin and safranal in saffron have the same effect as antidepressants.
- Crocin is the compound that is responsible for the coloring of saffron.
- Picrocrocin has a bitter taste, which is mostly responsible for the taste of saffron.
- The aromatic smell of saffron is due to the presence of safranal.
